WITH THE RHEUMATOLOGY HEALTH
PROFESSIONALS ASSOCIATION

NATIONAL CONVENTION
CENTRE, CANBERRA

12-15 MAY 2012

REGISTRATION
INFORMATION

WELCOME

The 53rd Australian Rheumatology Association Annual Scientific Meeting with the Rheumatology Health Professionals Association will be held at the National Convention Centre in the heart of Australia's national capital, Canberra from Saturday the 12th to Tuesday the 15th of May 2012. This will be the first time the annual conference has been held in Canberra since 1977 so it's a great opportunity to combine visits to some of Australia's national icons with a highly stimulating scientific program. The conference includes key speakers, Professor Connie Weyand (Stanford University), Professor Anthony Woolf (Royal Cornwall Hospital), Professor Lindsey Criswell (University of California) and Professor Daniel Lovell (Cincinnati Children's Hospital). Our invited speakers are all internationally respected rheumatologist researchers, who will be joined by a number of our own prominent Australian clinician-scientists to share their research and insights into the latest clinical and scientific breakthroughs in rheumatology.

Importantly, the meeting this year will commence on Saturday, May 12th with the main scientific program starting at 1.00pm. The registrar preceptorship begins with a social event on the evening of Friday, May 11th and sessions beginning at 8.00am on Saturday. A Paediatric Rheumatology satellite will follow the main meeting and will be held at Canberra's Hyatt Hotel on May 16th to 17th.

The program for the Annual Scientific Meeting features symposia on the Burden of Musculoskeletal Disease, Systemic Lupus Erythematosus, Rural Rheumatology Practice, Vascular Disease, and Genetics, as well as sessions with the latest updates and new research on Rheumatoid Arthritis, Osteoporosis and Osteoarthritis. Two particular highlights will be a symposium on Sports Medicine combined with an option to visit and tour the Australian Institute of Sport, and a conference dinner in the Great Hall of Parliament House.

More details are available from the conference website:

www.araconference.com

Whether you've never been to Canberra, or know the nation's capital well, this is an annual scientific meeting not to be missed, that I'm sure you will enjoy, remember and keep talking about. I invite rheumatologists from all round the world to join Australians for a meeting to remember.

Convenor, ARA 53rd ASM

INVITED INTERNATIONAL SPEAKERS

Professor Connie Weyand (Stanford University of Medicine, California, USA)

Connie Weyand is Professor of Medicine in Immunology and Rheumatology at the Stanford University School of Medicine. She received her MD from the University of Aachen in 1979 and her Dr. habil degree in Medical Sciences in 1988 from the University of Heidelberg. She trained in Clinical Immunology and Rheumatology at Stanford University in California, before appointment to the faculty of the Mayo Medical and Graduate School in 1990. In 2004 she joined the Emory University School of Medicine where she was appointed Professor of Medicine and Co-director of the Lowance Center for Immunology. More recently she has returned to Stanford to pursue her research interests that include immune events in the aetiology of rheumatoid arthritis, giant cell arteritis and links between atherosclerosis and rheumatoid arthritis.

Professor Anthony Woolf (Cornwall, UK)

Tony Woolf is Professor of Rheumatology, Institute of Health Care Research, Peninsula College of Medicine and Dentistry, Universities of Exeter and Plymouth and Consultant Rheumatologist at the Royal Cornwall Hospital, Truro, UK. He qualified from the London Hospital Medical College, and trained in rheumatology at Hammersmith Hospital, Guy's Hospital, Royal National Hospital for Rheumatic Diseases and Bristol Royal Infirmary. His special interests are in the burden of musculoskeletal conditions, the management of musculoskeletal conditions, medical education and osteoporosis on which he has written widely. He is currently Chair of the Bone and Joint Decade 2010-2020 International Coordinating Council.

Professor Lindsey Criswell (University of California, San Francisco, USA)

Lindsey Criswell is Professor of Medicine (Rheumatology Division) and Orofacial Sciences at the University of California, San Francisco (UCSF), and Chief of the Rheumatology Division at UCSF. She received her MD and undertook rheumatology training at UCSF, and received her MPH from the University of California, Berkeley. Lindsey also completed a DSc in genetic epidemiology at the Netherlands Institute of Health Sciences. Her research program explores the genetics and epidemiology of human autoimmune disease, particularly rheumatoid arthritis and systemic lupus erythematosus. During the past several years, her research unit has devoted substantial effort to performance of genome wide association studies (GWAS) of SLE and RA. This collaborative work has led to the identification of over 30 risk genes each for RA and SLE and revealed underlying biologic pathways responsible for disease onset and progression.

Professor Daniel Lovell (Cincinnati Children's Hospital, Ohio, USA)

Dan Lovell holds the Joseph E. Levinson Endowed Chair of Pediatric Rheumatology and Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Cincinnati Medical Center. He is Associate Director, Division of Rheumatology and Chairman, Pediatric Rheumatology Collaborative Study Group at Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center in Cincinnati, Ohio. His focus is on clinical research and he has served as the principal investigator (PI) for >30 multicenter, interventional trials in Juvenile Idiopathic Arthritis (JIA). In addition he served as a PI or Co-PI in the research that led to the development of the core sets of outcome measures for JIA, juvenile dermatomyositis and childhood onset Systemic Lupus Erythematosus. His current research efforts are supported by grants from the National Institutes of Health, Food and Drug Administration, American College of Rheumatology and several pharmaceutical sponsors.

National Convention Centre

The National Convention Centre is the largest purpose-built meetings and events facility in the ACT. Located in the heart of Canberra, overlooking Glebe Park, and within walking distance of the city centre. Only a fifteen minute drive from Canberra International Airport, the Centre is conveniently located for all domestic and international delegates.

Canberra

From its familiar symbols of Australian nationhood to its regional wineries and historic townships, Canberra has something special to offer every visitor.

Beyond Canberra's more famous attractions, the city unfolds into a vibrant mix of restaurants, nightclubs, museums and galleries. Growing urban centres are lined with trendy cafes and boutique shopping, while weekend markets overflow with the freshest regional produce and local wines. Walkers and cyclists tackle the trails in the many local parks that wind their way through the city.

One of Australia's few planned cities, Canberra is a place where architectural style complements the beauty of the surrounding Australian bush. Located on the ancient lands of the traditional owners, the Ngunnawal people, Canberra is thought to derive its name from the Aboriginal word Kamberra or 'meeting place'.
